Central Florida Integrated Logistics Park Located Between The Active Orlando And Tampa Industrial Markets Trades Hands

Orlando, FL – June 1, 2021 – An affiliate of Phoenix-based Tratt Properties, LLC, principal Jonathan Tratt, just purchased one of the most closely watched and one of the few industrial parks rail served in Florida, Central Florida Integrated Logistics Park, a 930-acre site located in Winter Haven.

The site is entitled and planned for over 8 million square feet of industrial development, strong infrastructure with ample power, water, natural gas, and sewer capacity that can accommodate a wide variety of users from food and cold storage to manufacturing and statewide logistics companies. In addition, tenants have access to two international airports, major deep-water ports, the Park is adjacent to the CSX Rail Intermodal Facility, and direct access to Interstate 4, US-27 and SR-60.

The property is home to Coca-Cola Florida who recently purchased a 400,000 square foot warehouse moving its current operations from their facility in Lakeland. In addition, Florida Can Manufacturing is under construction building a 400,000 square foot manufacturing facility adjacent to the Integrated Logistics Park property.

“From a business perspective, Winter Haven has embraced growth,” Jonathan Tratt said. “It’s not just the economic development council but the city itself – city government and the building division.”

Project Manager Andy Pressner said Tratt Properties, who also owns the 1 Million square foot Amazon warehouse in Lakeland and the 650,000 square foot Best Buy warehouse in Polk City as well as the 713,000 square foot CVS warehouse in Orlando, wants to break ground soon on a new warehouse within the Winter Haven property by the end of the year.

CBRE facilitated the sale of the Central Florida Integrated Logistics Park, David Murphy, Monica Wonus, and Cameron Thomas represented the seller in the transaction. David Murphy and his partners have been retained by Tratt to market the property.
